Texas Coastal Prairie Conference: PRESERVING LANDS AND LEGACIES

The Texas Coastal Prairie Initiative, made up of 25 conservation organizations, is proud to bring landowners and conservation partners together to discuss the preservation of wide-open spaces in Texas at the Texas Coastal Prairie Conference this fall!

The conference will include a full day of workshops and presentations on Friday, October 28th at the University of Houston - Clear Lake, followed by field trips on Saturday, October 29th to remnant and restored prairies as well as working ranches and farms. Conference attendees will be welcomed to a special networking dinner on Friday evening on the UHCL campus. Registration includes a complimentary continental breakfast, lunch, and networking dinner.

PANEL DISCUSSIONS

Conference topics will include restoration and conservation success stories, new conservation easement funding opportunities in Texas, technical guidance for landowners, partnership projects and strategies, green energy and sustainable land management, prairie education, climate change opportunities and challenges, land use changes in Texas, and ecotourism.
